WHITE'S
HISTORY, GAZETTEER AND DIRCTORY
of
NORFOLK 1864

Pulham St. Mary Magdalen is a considerable village, about a mile north of the above [Pulham St. Mary], on an eminence 4½ miles N.W. of Harleston. Its parish contains 1279 inhabitants in 1861, including 244 in Depwade Union Workhouse, which is situated in this parish. It includes many scattered houses, and 2956A. 1R. 19P. Of land, of which the commons Bush-green, Colegate end, and Gresham green were enclosed in 1838-39. It is nearly all in Geo. Copeman, Esqr's manor of Pulham, (fines arbitrary), and anciently had a weekly market, and was noted for the manufacture of hats, dornecks and coverlets, &c. It has still a cattle fair on the third Thursday in May. Sir R. Shafto Adair, Bart., Laverocke Leggett, Esq., G. F. Bevan, Esq., W. H. Cole, Esq., and others, have estates here. The Hall, anciently a seat of a youger branch of the Percy family, was rebuilt by the late J. Crickmore, Esq., and is now the property of Laverocke Leggett, Esq., whose son occupies it. The Church is a large structure of mixed architecture, chiefly perpendicular, and consists of a lofty nave with aisles, chancel, and a tower with six bells. The roof is of carved wood, and part of the nave roof is painted and gilt, and evidently ancient. There is a piscina in the chancel and another in one of the aisles. Here are handsome mural monuments of Rosier, Stanhawe, Cole, Roope, Palgrave, and Page families. The petual curacy, valued at £646, is in the patronage of the Crown, and in the incumbency of the Rev. Leonard Ramsey Henslow, M.A.. who has a commodious residence, which was enlarged and new fronted in 1861. The National School was erected in 1852 at a cost of £352, and is attended by about 80 children. The Wesleyans and the Primitive Methodists have each a small chapel here, the former built in 1862. There are two cemeteries in the parish, one belonging to the Church and the other to Dissenters. They were formed in 1860, when the churchyard was closed. The Town Estate, which was invested in trust for the poor as early as the 16th century, consists of two farm houses and 66A. of land. let for £113, and seven cottages, let for £27 a year. Out of these rents £30 are appropriated to the church expenses, and the remainder is equally divided between the school and poor. A small estate here is held by the service of blowing a horn at the opening of the manor court and 7A. by being "the lord's hangman"; but the duties of the latter office have long been obsolete. Here is a station on the Waveney Valley Railway.
